

July 2-3, 2015

NATURALIZATION POLICIES AND PRACTICES IN THE GLOBAL SOUTH

Thursday, July 2, 2015, 9.30-17.30

PUBLIC PRESENTATIONS:

Henio Hoyo (German Institute of Global and Area Studies, Berlin):
Second-Class Citizens: The unequal Status of naturalized Mexicans

Dani Kranz (Bergische University Wuppertal):
All in the Family? Access to Israeli Citizenship of Spouses of Jewish Immigrants compared to non-Jewish Spouses and Partners of Israeli Citizens

Aneesh Aneesh (University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee, USA):
Naturalization Policies and the Transnationalization of Citizenship

Mathew Mathews/Debbie Soon (National University of Singapore):
Transiting into the Singaporean Identity: The Singapore Citizenship
Journey

Björn Ahl (GSSC): Recent Developments in Chinese Immigration Law

Maggi Leung (Utrecht University):
'One City, two Systems': The controversial Citizenship Policy in Hong Kong

Ramola Ramtohul (University of Mauritius):
Naturalization of 'high net worth' Migrants in Mauritius: A critical Analysis

Bernadette Ludwig (Wagner College, Staten Island, USA):
Citizenship and Naturalization Requirements in Liberia: The Importance of Race

Evgenia Samoilova (Leibniz Institute for the Social Sciences, Bremen, Germany):
A Privilege of Choice: Relevance of socio-economic Status in Citizenship Acquisition in the Case of Latvia and Lithuania

Milena Baghdasaryan (Martin-Luther-University Halle, Germany):
Refugee Status as a 'Weapon of the Weak': Refusing Naturalization in Armenia as Part of the Struggle of the Refugees from Azerbaijan for a Better Citizenship

Friday, July 3, 2015, 9.30-17.30

INTERNAL WORKSHOP:

Participation in the workshop is possible only by individual registration.
All participants are asked to read at least two of the participating papers (to be circulated in June 2015).
Please register until 1 June 2015 via email to:
kboendel@uni-koeln.de

ORGANIZED BY

Global South Studies Center
Research Area: Citizenship and Migration

VENUE

University of Cologne
Albertus-Magnus Platz
50923 Cologne
Building C2, Room 008

FURTHER INFORMATION

gssc.uni-koeln.de